ATP POLYURETHANE TUBING

Polyurethane tubing is fast becoming the ideal choice for pneumatic applications. It combines the elasticity of rubber with the chemical resistance normally reserved for plastics.

Polyurethane tubing is a flexible, kink-resistant and abrasion resistant tube commonly used in pneumatic control systems. It is easy to assemble on to fittings and has excellent hydrolytic stability.

ATP Polyurethane (PU) Tubes are available in variety of colors and features. These Flexible Polyurethane Tubes are available with optimum abrasion resistance, high tensile strength and low-temperature flexibility.

Salient Features:

- Excellent resistance to oils, greases, aliphatic hydrocarbons, oxygen and Ozone.
- Non toxic, No smell
- ATP Polyurethane Tubing is much lighter than rubber.
- Radii of curvature can be very small without flattening and loss of pressure.
- High cutting strength, Folding stability, Resistance to flex cracking.
- Multi colours for easy identification
- In-built meter marking on the tube for ready measure
- 'ATP' label for genuineness
- Working Pressure - upto 10Kg/Cm² (Subjected to standard wall thickness)
